

Dear Ashlynn & Rowan,

I see by my list you two have been good, some room for improvement but over all good kids. Well done! Now about me being real, and showing proof. You are the children of witches, and have seen your parents do amazing things with the help of the Goddess and God, why would you doubt me. Yes, you have never seen my form, or heard my laugh, but you have seen me in your dreams. Like so many entities, I watch over you. You are never alone! You are loved, cherished, and honored as the next generation. DO you really need proof that a physical form of me is real? Well I will tell you no physical form of me exists in your realm, but I still am real. Just like the fey that visits your little fairy house, and the dragon that guards your family; I too am real. Did you not listen to the movie Polar Express... "Believing is seeing". Closed your eye and you will see me riding on my sled or making toys with my elves. I am as real as you want me to be. I do not force myself on anyone.

Now, I did bring you a little bell with a good sound, plus I little something extra... a gem from the moon. Know that I watch over the both of you like the others do. Visit me in your dreams and never lose your child like wonder. It is a gift to cherish. More than anything I can bring you.

Sincerely yours,

Santa C.
